2017-2018 President's Report

President's Message

Turning Opportunities Into Successes

We are pleased to bring you this 2017-2018 President's Report, a look back at the past year at East Central Community College.

As you will read inside this report, it has been a year of great progress and significant accomplishments, while dealing with the challenges associated with significant reductions in state appropriations. You may recall from last year's President's Report that the college instituted a number of revenue increases and expenditure reductions to offset an estimated $1.3 million reduction in state appropriations for the 2017-18 fiscal year.

I am extremely proud of our faculty, staff, and students for turning these challenges into opportunities, and those opportunities into successes. I'm also thankful as always for the tremendous support this past year—financial and otherwise—of our alumni and friends. Together, we again have achieved great things.

One accomplishment about which you will read on the pages that follow is the successful completion and acceptance of the college's Fifth-Year Interim Report as required by our accrediting body, the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC). The report, along with our Quality Enhancement Plan (QEP) Impact Report, was accepted by SACSCOC with no additional information requested for compliance. It is uncommon for an institution to have a report that does not require additional information or reports be submitted in order to be judged in compliance. This is a major accomplishment for ECCC, and one that should be celebrated by all of us.

However, it also means that it's time to begin focusing on our 10-year reaffirmation of accreditation by SACSCOC, and we are doing just that. We will begin this planning process in early 2020, with a deadline to submit the compliance certification report being spring 2021. The peer review committee site visit will be in fall 2021. In addition, ECCC's next QEP plan will be due to SACSCOC in late summer or early fall 2021.

This 10-year review by SACSCOC also coincides with the conclusion of our 2020 Vision strategic plan, which was adopted by the college in February 2013. Therefore, we will soon begin work on a new strategic plan to chart ECCC's future beyond 2020. This process will involve input from all stakeholders of the college, including our alumni and friends. So as you can see, we are excited about the present, all the while focusing on our future.

I hope you will take a few moments to read this year in review and the good news it brings about our college.

Thank you for your continued support of East Central Community College. Even as we look back with much pride, we look forward to the upcoming academic year with much enthusiasm and momentum!

Dr. Billy W. Stewart
President

Of the 48 students selected for the highly competitive Mississippi Rural Physicians and Rural Dentists scholarship programs in the past two years, eight have been East Central Community College graduates. It's a prestigious reward for students who will one day return to their rural roots to practice medicine or dentistry. Two May 2017 ECCC graduates were accepted into the Mississippi Rural Dentists Scholarship Program and two were invited into the Mississippi Rural Physicians Scholarship Program.

Women's Foundation Grant

East Central received a $50,000 grant from the Women's Foundation of Mississippi for implementation of a Women's Emergency Assistance Fund that provides emergency funds for transportation or auto repairs, childcare, medical expenses, and other temporary financial needs to help women stay in school.

Cafeteria Renovation

The college's food service provider, Valley Services, Inc., completed renovations and enhancements to Mabry Cafeteria over summer 2017. Some of the enhancements included more and healthier dining options for students in a true restaurant-style setting, monitors located along the serving lines to provide menu and nutrition information, and expanded seating to accommodate 100 more diners.

Friday Night Recruiting

East Central student recruiters once again attended high school football games to visit with prospective students, parents, and others interested in the college. Student recruiters visited high schools in all five counties of the college's district during fall 2017.

New Women's Residence Hall

East Central dedicated its New Women's Residence Hall in August, just prior to the opening of the new school year. The $6.6 million New Women's Residence Hall was funded using bond revenue and with financial support from each of the five counties in the college's district. The modern, three-story facility includes 56 rooms, a study area and a kitchen on each floor for student use, a coin-operated laundry room, wireless internet and cable TV, a lobby area with a television, and social and study spaces for the residents.

Numerous ECCC students were recipients of endowed and annual scholarships and were recognized during a reception in August in the Brackeen-Wood Gymnasium on campus. A record 144 scholarships valued at $132,000 were presented during the 2017 event. Six new endowed scholarships and three new annual scholarships were funded this year.

Dual Credit Tiered-Tuition Rate

Responding to a need in its five-county district, ECCC created a pilot program of a tiered-tuition rate for its Dual Credit Program. Under the pilot program, high school students taking dual credit courses taught by the local high school instructor on the campus of the local high school pay $100 tuition for each three-hour course and $125 tuition for each four-hour course. The tuition cost includes the instructional materials required for the course—either textbooks or access codes to online materials and e-books.

Warrior Wellness Grant

Continued grant funding from the Blue Cross & Blue Shield of Mississippi Foundation allowed the college to expand efforts to create and sustain a culture of wellness on campus through Warrior Wellness. The $92,588 grant was used to continue the full-time Wellness Coordinator position, expand specialized scheduled classes offered free to students and taught by qualified instructors, begin offering selected classes to the public, offer for-credit Health, Physical Education, and Recreation courses, increase supervised access to the Wellness Center with part-time assistance, and implement an annual ECCC Warrior Wellness Week.

Warrior Wellness Week

ECCC held its first Warrior Wellness Week in September with fun and educational events and activities. Among the events was a daily Warrior Worship featuring spiritual messages and a healthy breakfast; "EC Warriors Out for Blood" blood drive competition; Glow Run; "Chopped: Smoothie Edition," where student teams competed to make the healthiest smoothie; and a presentation on healthy eating tips and control of personal health.

Oliphant-Martin Grants

The inaugural Oliphant-Martin Faculty Excellence Fund Grants totaling $20,000 were awarded in September. A $5,000 grant was awarded to the Science Division for active learning models, to the Automotive Technology and Collision Repair Technology programs for oscilloscopes and scan tools, to the Business and Office Technology Program for learning lab improvements, and to the Practical Nursing Program for intravenous arms. The fund was established in 1997 and renamed in 2010 to the Oliphant-Martin Faculty Excellence Fund to acknowledge generous contributions by Dr. Beverly (Henry) Oliphant-Martin '58 and her husband, John Martin.

Thursday Homecoming

East Central held its 2017 Homecoming Celebration on a Thursday for the first time in many years and it was a tremendous success. College records indicate it was probably the first Homecoming held on a Thursday since October 1948. Four outstanding alumni were honored including U.S. Congressman Trent Kelly of Saltillo and Union Elementary School principal Deanna Rush of Union, Alumnus and Alumna of the Year; and Scott County School District Athletics Director Jeff Breland of Lake and Chicago White Sox shortstop Tim Anderson, Athletic Hall of Fame inductees.

Dr. Shea Hailey and Dr. Mike McMullan, two noted cardiologists with strong ties to East Central, presented the college's Warrior Wellness Symposium. The physicians also spoke to science faculty and students interested in pre-med and other health-related careers. McMullan, a native of Decatur, is professor of medicine and chief of cardiology at the University of Mississippi Medical Center in Jackson. Hailey, a native of Union who graduated from East Central, is an interventional cardiologist at the Cardiovascular Institute of the South in Meridian.

ACT Scholarship Enhancements

ECCC dramatically increased the value of the scholarships it awards at various ACT composite score levels to provide greater financial support to more students. Beginning fall 2018, incoming freshman students who enroll full-time the fall semester immediately following high school graduation or the first regular semester after having received the high school equivalency, receive the following scholarship awards based on ACT score: ACT Composite Score 20-23—Dean's Award, one-half tuition per semester; ACT Composite Score 24-28—President's Award, full tuition per semester; or ACT Composite Score 29-36—Board of Trustees Award, full scholarship of tuition, room, and board per semester.

MI-BEST Student of the Year

Jackie Hamm of Newton was selected the MI-BEST Student of the Year at ECCC. Hamm was also the college's first graduate of the MI-BEST program, receiving her degree in collision repair technology in May 2018. MI-BEST allows qualified applicants to take the courses they need to prepare for the high school equivalency exam while at the same time training for jobs in several fields.

Families First Grant

ECCC was awarded a Mississippi Crossroads Consortium Families First Grant to assist students in achieving the skills necessary for middle skill jobs. The Crossroads Consortium is a collaboration between East Central and four other Mississippi community colleges to provide incentives and financial assistance for students to obtain the education and credentials to qualify for middle skill jobs, which nearly all new companies and most existing companies in Mississippi have.

Special Needs Prom

The college's Theta Xi chapter of Phi Theta Kappa hosted "Fairy Tale Ball" in November, its second annual prom for special needs students. Continuing the organization's Honors in Action program which began last year, Theta Xi invited students who receive special services from schools in the ECCC district to attend. Theta Xi members raised the money to stage the prom through various fundraisers and the help of area businesses that purchased sponsorships and donated prom dresses. The special needs students attending were served a meal and received prom party favors. East Central students served as their dates.

Forest Career Advancement Center

East Central opened its Forest Career Advancement Center in November. The college is leasing a building in Forest thanks to federal grant monies provided through the Mississippi Community College Board's Office of Adult Education. It gives the college a presence in all five counties it serves. High school equivalency classes, workforce training opportunities, and potentially evening for-credit academic courses are among the uses for the center.

Military Appreciation Breakfast

Major Gen. Janson D. Boyles, Adjutant General of Mississippi, was guest speaker when ECCC honored military veterans at the annual Military Appreciation Breakfast in November. An overflow crowd of local veterans attended.

Off-Campus Registration

ECCC instructional counselors again visited four of the college's off-site centers in Carthage, Forest, Louisville, and Choctaw in both November and April to assist students with spring and fall 2018 course registration.

Clean 5th-Year SACSCOC Report

The Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC), the accrediting body for ECCC, accepted the college's Fifth-Year Interim Report, along with its Quality Enhancement Plan (QEP) Impact Report, with no additional information requested to be in compliance. Institutions accredited by SACSCOC must seek reaffirmation of that accreditation every 10 years, which requires an off-site campus visit by a peer committee and submission of a five-year QEP designed to improve student learning or the environment for student success. Titled The Warrior Path to Success, ECCC's QEP was designed to enhance student learning and engagement for first-time, first-semester, full-time, at-risk students enrolled in developmental classes.

Military Friendly Designation

ECCC was designated a Military Friendly® School by Victory Media for the sixth consecutive year. East Central was one of only four community colleges in Mississippi to earn the designation for 2018. Military Friendly® Schools is a comprehensive guide for veterans and their families.

Annual Performance Profile

The annual Community College Performance Profile, or Report Card, as required by the state of Mississippi, once again gave ECCC high marks in several areas. The college ranked at the top in students who graduate on-time, or in two years, and among the top in students who graduate in three years and in overall student success. ECCC was also at the top in percentage of non-degree seeking students, which relates to the college being the highest dual credit provider by percentage in Mississippi. ECCC also ranked in the top five in technical program enrollment. Overall graduation rate, retention of students in for-credit programs, and number of students served through workforce training activities were other areas in which ECCC was among the leaders in the state.

Warrior Wonderland

Another big crowd was on hand for the college's third Warrior Wonderland held in December. A fireworks show kicked off the event before visitors had a variety of activities from which to choose, including new rides this year. A new layout for the event this year proved a success, as the Music Stage drew a large crowd all evening, and guests had easier access to the food tables and the rides and games.

The majority of funding for the $1.2 million project was provided through the state of Mississippi.

Former Northwest Mississippi Community College and Ole Miss basketball standout LaTaryl Williams was tabbed as ECCC's new head women's basketball coach. 40% Graduation Rate

ECCC achieved a 40 percent, three-year graduation rate for the first time in over a decade, which is substantially higher than state and national graduation rates. The accomplishment means that 40 percent of first-time, full-time students who enrolled in ECCC in fall 2014 completed a degree or certificate at the college by spring 2017. Of those students not completing a certificate or degree, 21 percent successfully transferred to another postsecondary institution, resulting in a 61 percent graduation plus transfer-out rate. 'Welty' Exhibit

"Welty", an exhibit featuring photographs by Eudora Welty, was on display in the college's Burton Library during April and open to the public free of charge. During the early 1930s, Welty traveled across Mississippi as a publicist for the Works Progress Administration and used the opportunity to take hundreds of photographs of her native state.
